morning's Heraid appeared a notice of my en arrested at the Cooper Institute meeting last hets were these.—When the audience commenced to leave, after the adjournment of the meeting, I was standing among several friends upon the sidewalk directly in front of the main entrance. A squad of policemen were the first to issue from the door, and disposed themselves o clear a passage. One of them advanced directly upon me, and ordered me to fall back, at the same time placing his hands somewhat roughly upon my person. It being, in fact, impossible for me to recede, as there was a compact mass of persons behind me, and being, and being, in fact, impossible for me to recede, as there was a compact mass of persons behind me, and being, one-worse, somewhat sensitive to that mode of salutation from a stranger, I evinced my disapprobation of it in a manner which he and his companions considered diswelvy, but signified my willingness to withdraw at mee without force, which in the prevailing confusion the policeman—as he stated afterwards—did not hear, and I was arrested. I had had as little intention of resisting the police as of worshipping John Brown as amartyr and a saint, and had, on the contrary, rather sympathized with the perplexities of their position in being compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compelled by their duty to appear to support the missing compel

The imports of dry goods for the week are again excessive, showing that the dry goods dealers are bent upon repeating next apring the operation which they tried so effectually last fall. The figures are $2,042,000 of goods entered at the port during the week against $1,500,000 same week for last.

To realize the absurdity of this large import, the merchant must remember that we have taken from foreign countries since January 1, $107,720,000 of dry goods, against $57,000,000 to same date in 1857; also, that dealers and importers are wintering over the largest stock of goods they ever had on hand at this season.

TRASCULY DEPARTMENT, Dec. 14, 1869.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be roceived at the department until Tuesday, the 27th day of December inst., for the issue of any portion or the whole of three millions of dollars in Treasury notes in exchange for the gold coin of the United States, deposited with the Treasurer of the United States, the treasurer of the mint at Philadelphia, the treasurer of the branch mint at New Orleans, or the assistant treasurers as Boston, New York, Charleston or St. Louis, within one week from the acceptance of the proposals under the authority of the acts of Congress of 28d December, 1887, and 3d March, 1859.

Such Treasury notes will be issued on the receipt here of certificates of deposit to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States with any of those officers. They will be made payable to the order of such bidder or bidders as shall agree to make such exchange at the lowest rate of interest not to exceed six per centum per annum, and will carry such rate of interest from the date of the certificate of interest induced the order of the certificate of deposit. The proposals must state the rate of interest without condition and without reference to other bits, and contain no other fractical rates than one-fourth, one-half or three-fourths of one per centum.

One per centum of the amount offered to be exchanged must be deposited with one of the treasury officers above specified, whose certificate of such deposit must accompany each proposal as security for its fulfilment. Should the offer not be accepted, immediate direction will be given to return such preliminary deposit. Any proposal not consistent with the acts of Congress, or this notice, will not be considered.

All proposals under this notice must be sealed and inscribed on the outside cover "Proposals for Treasury Notes." They will be opened at this department at 12 o'clock M. of said twenty-sevent day of Decembe

OUR FAMILY MARKET REVIEW.

Since our last weekly report quite a diminution has oc-curred in the retail trade at Washington market. In curred in the retail trade at Washington market. In gathering our quotations yesterday the general sentiment of the market men was that business had been dull—very dull. But they felt encouraged at the approach of Christmas and New Year, and expect to make up deficiencies within the next two weeks. In the beef, mutton, yeal and pork trade there has been no change in prices since our last report. Poultry is more plenty, and the prices materially decreased since our last quotations. The leaves were last report. Poultry is more plenty, and the prices materially decreased since our last quotations; this is owing to the immense supplies that come in about Christmas time to supply the increased demand. Bu purchasers should be careful what leind of stock they purchase. Farmers about this time fat up all their old stock, regardless of age, and send it to market; consequently, a great deal of unestable ponitry is offered for sale. In the game trade prices remain pretty firm, and there is not any noteworthy change in prices. Tame ducks are very scarce and are worth $2 per pair. In fish, there is considerable change, in prices, in consequence of the scarcity of that article. Butter remains about the same; choice qualities are firm. There has been no change in the price of vegetables; potatoes are rather plently, and poor qualities too much so. Oranges, which have been very scarce, are now more picutiful, a cargo having arrived from Jamaics, W. I. Apples remain firm, with a tendency to advance by the next report.

We make the following quotations of the retail prices at Washington market:—
